Food for the body...Nurture for the soul

Reflections from our Director

"For now I ask no more than the justice of eating."
- from The Great Tablecloth by Pablo Neruda

One-third of Massachusetts residents are having trouble putting food on the table.

Are you shocked? Unfortunately, it's not shocking to Bread of Life. The statistic was revealed in a new report from the Greater Boston Food Bank (GBFB), but the numbers come from the monthly reports that member organizations, like Bread of Life, provide to them. Food insecurity hit an all-time high during the pandemic. During 2022, it remained high with approximately 1.8 million adults reporting household food insecurity, or 33% of the state's population.

Many people struggle with chronic food insecurity and report running out of food or not having enough money to get more food every month. In the last 12 months these food-insecure households had to choose between paying for food and paying for utilities (70% of those surveyed), transportation (68%), rent or mortgage (64%), medical care (61%), school or tuition (44%). Residents used a number of strategies to cope with the problem: they bought the cheapest food available (85% of those surveyed), got help from family or friends (61%), sold or pawned personal property (41%), stretched or watered down food or infant formula (30%).

No one should go without food. As the combination of high living costs and insufficient wages continue to squeeze residents, Bread of Life is committed to pursuing "the justice of eating." We are working with people like you and our community partners who rescue food, donate food and funds, and volunteer, to make sure that those most in need - including children, families, senior citizens, residents on fixed incomes - have access to free nutritious food.

God bless you,
Gabriella

Under One Roof Update

As of the first week of June, framing is well underway for the second floor, with framing of the third floor to follow. We anticipate the roofing to start mid-June. Our "Celebration of Construction in Progress" beam-signing event on Monday, May 22 was a great community event attended by our major financial partners, elected officials and members of the public who helped make this project a reality.

The 54 Eastern Ave project will bring all BOL programs under one roof - food pantries, evening meals, backpacks, teen center collaboration, motel shelter food provision, grocery delivery and food access - along with our offices and a multi-purpose hall for expanded programs. The project also provides 14 affordable studio apartments owned and operated by Metro North Housing Corp to provide permanent housing for very low-income formerly homeless individuals.

We couldn't have done it without the contributions of 1,100+ donors like you!
Thank you,
Gabriella Snyder Stelmack
Executive Director

Making a Difference

Posted to Bread of Life's Google business profile on 5/14/2023: "Best food bank around!!!" – Alan Posted at GreatNonprofits.org by nucaballero, 3/29/2023, Rating:5: "I've been volunteering at Bread of Life for a little over a month now. I've learned a lot about discipline, growth, and meeting new people as well. I did things such as breaking apart boxes, recycling, preparing food bags for students and elders in need, and organizing the food pantry. Starting something new can be difficult at first, but it was very easy to adjust to a new routine and work alongside other volunteers. Bread of Life is an inspiring and encouraging organization that I strongly recommend to get involved in."

"It is difficult to think of the community without Bread of Life. I'm a high school student and volunteer at the pantry. It is great to see the pantry serving so many people in need."
